

Professor Goes To School

You are never too old to learn something new.

After years of cane poles, trout lines, spinning rigs and the old fashion rod and reel, wife Mari and I were introduced to fly fishing. We were guests of Peniel Pentecostal Church and Peniel

College of Higher Education. After two days of seminar presentations we went fishing west of London. Mr. Ian Veal accompanied us and is a personal jack of all trades. Mr. Rob Cleminson has a corporate fishing lease on the world famous Test river. A true renaissance man with corporate ties in London in what we call in the States his "day job." On this particular Friday he was finishing hosting a three day fishing retreat for a group of businessmen.

Mari & I got a late start from London with our escort Ian Veal. Part of our adventure is the build up. Mr. Veal is an internationally recognized expert on fly fishing, as the many patches on his fly vest can attest.
